

Move People Thoughtfully Down the Runway to Racial Justice

Having thoughtful, strategic conversations about race and racism is the only way for us to overcome the deep-seated biases embedded in our national psyche and start building support for the repair and healing we must do to get to a more just world.

The racial justice runway gives you an incremental approach to navigating the critical conversations we must have both inside and outside our coalitions to get closer to justice.

The Racial Justice Runway

Six 90-minute facilitated discussions with recommendations for practice and next steps

- Introduction to the Racial Justice Runway and Your Role In It
- Pull Away from the Gate by Naming the Elephant in the Room
- Begin Your Taxi by Recognizing Racial Power Imbalances
- Increase Your Acceleration by Supporting Racial Equity
- Prepare for Lift-Off By Achieving Racial Justice
- Build Your Action Plan for Justice

What People Are Saying About the Racial Justice Runway

“The analogy of a runway to the thought process of racial equity...was so enlightening to me. I think so many of us get stuck at the gate or waiting to take off, and don't know how to make the next step of supporting or ensuring there is more equality in every area that affects us.”

--Alan Villatuya, Communications Officer, County of Santa Cruz - Housing for Health Division

Building Momentum for a Whole, Healed, Healthy, Just, Joyful, Abundant Future

-  Energize and Inspire Your Community
-  Set Up Your Building Blocks for Mobilizing People to Action
-  Learn and Practice the Principles of Strategic CaseMaking
-  Move People Thoughtfully Down the Runway to Racial Justice
-  Design a Compelling Case for Action
-  Make a Powerful Case for Ongoing Support

Talk to us about bringing this facilitated discussion series to you:
talktous@thecasemade.com